CAREER SUMMARY

I'm a curious and enthusiastic learner with a deep passion to enhance my multilingual skills. I hold a Bachelor's and Master's degree in History, providing me with a strong foundation in research, analysis as well as communication. Nevertheless, my professional focus has shifted over the past few years towards mastering the Spanish language. I have dedicated myself to advancing my Spanish skills and have successfully cleared DELE A2, with DELE B2 results pending. Additionally, I have completed the C1.1 Advanced level in Spanish, demonstrating a high level of fluency and proficiency. My passion for language has been further enriched through continuous self-learning and immersive practice. Alongside my academic achievements, I gained practical experience through an internship in digital marketing, where I refined my skills in content creation and digital communication. Therefore, I am now seeking opportunities in Spanish content writing, Spanish teaching, or Spanish translation, where I can utilize my advanced language skills and contribute effectively in a dynamic, language driven environment. With a commitment to excellence and cross cultural communication, I am eager to introduce my expertise to roles that require a deep understanding of Spanish Language. I'm committed to applying my language skills and academic knowledge to contribute effectively in a professional setting. With a solid foundation in digital marketing and proficiency in both Spanish and English, I am poised to drive brand success through comprehensive multilingual communication strategies. The goal is to employ my digital expertise and linguistic skill to amplify brand reach, engagement and conversions in diverse markets. Moreover, my mission is to inspire and educate students in Spanish language and culture. I aim to create an engaging and inclusive learning environment that fosters language and preparing students for global opportunities and cross cultural experiences. Initially seeking a position as a content writer specializing in Spanish language, where I can leverage my linguistic proficiency, cultural understanding, creative writing skills to produce high quality and engaging content for a diverse audience.
